Dear First Name Last Name,

I am contacting you regarding a data security incident that has occurred at SafetyFirst¹ that may potentially have exposed your personal information – including your name, REDACTED – to others without authorization. Please be assured that SafetyFirst has taken this incident seriously and is committed to taking every step necessary to address the incident, protect your identity, and ensure that the incident does not occur again.

By way of background, on April 2, 2014, SafetyFirst became aware that an FTP server used to back up drivers' data was publicly accessible, resulting in unauthorized access to your personal information. SafetyFirst immediately disconnected the FTP server to prevent further unauthorized access to the data on the server and launched an investigation, via an independent forensics investigation firm, to determine what information was exposed and how the server was being accessed. The forensics investigation team determined that the information on the SafetyFirst FTP server became publicly accessible after a configuration error during a routine upgrade, and that your personal information was accessed without authorization. We have no evidence, however, that this information has been misused.

You may also take action directly to further protect against possible identity theft or other financial loss. We encourage you to review your account statements regularly, and to monitor your credit reports for suspicious activity. Under U.S. law, you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also contact the three major credit bureaus directly to request a free copy of your credit report.

At no charge, you can also have these credit bureaus place a “fraud alert” on your file that alerts creditors to take additional steps to verify your identity prior to granting credit in your name. Note, however, that because it tells creditors to follow certain procedures to protect you, it may also delay your ability to obtain credit while the agency verifies your identity. As soon as one credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place fraud alerts on your file. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, or should you have any questions regarding your credit report, please contact any one of the agencies listed below. Information regarding security freezes is also available from these agencies.
